I am Dr. Brian Ruper, Chief of Anesthesiology at Monticello – Big Lake Hospital in Monticello, MN. I decided to push to convert our OR s to the Heine laryngoscope system about a year ago. I was quite frustrated with the blades that were being used. These blades were bought because they looked like the Heine blades, but these look-a-likes were a lot less expensive. After about a year of use these blades were not holding up at all and their performance was not very good. The connections were failing and they became unreliable. I am very familiar with the Heine laryngoscope blades; they are what I have been working with for over five years at my previous facility.

I would recommend the Heine laryngoscope over any manufactures brand.
